Drove Without Licence

Pierre Castellin, of 99 Nellie-st., Altona, was fined £3 for driving a motor cycle without a licence in Williamstown Court this week.

On February 11 a collision occurred at the corner of Sargood and Blyth-sts. Altona, in which Castellin sustained a fractured left leg.

When asked by the police why he was driving without a licence he replied that he had just purchased the bike two weeks before and was just trying out the machine.

£25 FINE FOR DANGEROUS DRIVING

William Nicholls, of 83 Mason Street, Newport, was fined £25 with £4/15/- costs in the Williamstown Court this week for dangerous driving.

One witness, Kevin Charles Keep, of 16 Collins Street, St. Albans, said that Nicholls passed him in Melbourne Road, Newport on December 5 last year at about 60 m.p.h. Further on he came across an accident involving the same car, a Fordomatic and a small Ford Anglia tourer.

Mr W. Kennedy, solicitor for Nicholls, claimed that Keep's car was an older, slower vehicle and perhaps the Ford seemed to be going faster than it really was. Witness replied that this was not so because he had driven all sorts of vehicles, including a Fordomatic for the past seven years and considered that he could estimate speed satisfactorily.

James Carras, the driver of the Ford Anglia, said that he was going along Melb road when he saw Nicholls' car was coming out of Curtis Street so he stopped immediately. The next moment the car veered towards him and collided with his car. Carras' car finished up against a tree which was on the corner.

Miss Anna Powrus, of 52 Power Street Williamstown, was a passenger with Carras. She stated that Carras pulled up instantly when he saw Nicholls' car coming along Melbourne Road. Next thing there was a crash.

Constable Nunn stated that skid marks were 42 ft. long before the point of impact and 30 ft. long beyond it.

When asked at the police station if he had been drinking Nicholls said he had consumed only six beers at the races and a couple that night. Nicholls claimed that he was only doing 30 m.p.h. but, when asked if he could have pulled up within 30 feet of the intersection when he saw the other car, he replied that he could not have stopped and could not avoid the collision added Constable Nunn.

Nicholls stated that he would back himself against any taxi driver as far as driving was concerned. He claimed that he was doing no more than 30 m.p.h. and that Carras did not stop. He said he could not brake hard for fear of putting his brother through the windscreen.

MOTORIST FINED AFTER COLLISION

John Gorog, of 342 Beaconsfield Parade St Kilda, was fined a total of £53/13/- in the Williamstown Court of Petty Sessions on Wednesday for dangerous driving, failing to give right of way, failing to stop and exchange names and addresses and driving without a licence.

Gorog was driving along Hammer Street, Newport, on the wrong side of the road when he collided with a car driven by John Alfred Boyd, of 31 Danks Street, Albert Park. The impact of the crash sent Gorog's car across the road and through a fence.

Boyd got out of his car and went over to exchange names and addresses but Gorog backed on to the road, did a U turn, nearly knocking Boyd over, and drove off. A further 200 yards up the road he hit a nature strip and overturned the car.

Adrian Joseph Robinson, of 132 Woods Street, Newport, said he was pulling out from the kerb when a green Holden sped past him. Further on down the road he came across the Holden and Boyd's car.

Boyd asked Robinson to go for the police and when he returned the Holden had left the scene of the first accident and had overturned a further 200 yards up the road.

When Constable Stone arrived at the scene he asked Gorog why he had driven off after colliding with Boyd's car. Gorog's reply was that he drove off because he thought he was going to get a punch in the nose for smashing into Boyd's car.

At the police station Gorog was asked for his licence. He said that he had none. He had gone for his test twice but both times had been refused by the police for not being competent enough.

Mr R. Prowse, S.M., said that he was satisfied that Gorog had driven very dangerously and that he should not have been driving at all.

Gorog had just bought the car, but Mr Prowse also stopped him from applying for a licence for a further 12 months.

WE APOLOGISE

Due to mechanical difficulties many items of news forwarded to us from interested persons, have been omitted.

Tramways Would Double Fares, Says Bus Prop.

Replying to criticism of bus services to Altona, brought to council by the Altona branch ALP last week, bus proprietor, Mr J. H. Joiner claimed the Tramways Board would double the fares to Altona from Footscray.

In a letter to the Star this week Mr Joiner claims his fares are the cheapest in Melbourne. The letter reads:

Sir—May I be granted a little space in your valuable paper to air my views on that amazing and somewhat amusing council item of last week re sending a deputation to the Tramways Board concerning buses for Altona.

It compares somewhat with the St Albans' request to runs trams in that suburb. I would like to advise this deputation to make sure of all their facts and advise the public of them before they go and commit themselves too far. Tell the public, as the Transport Board has told me, that Altona Bus Line fares are the cheapest fares in Melbourne today considering the distance covered.

From Footscray to Melbourne, a distance of four miles, the Tramway fare is 1/6. From Footscray to Altona, a journey of nine miles by bus, the fare, until this week, has been 1/6. Just half the tramway fare.

Our Williamstown fares would be doubled by Tramway buses. You can't have it both ways.

I will certainly put on more buses if these public minded gentlemen can convince the public to pay double the fare. I know for a fact that it takes just double my whole income to cover the running costs of tram way buses over the same mileage.

If the deputation can convince the Tramways Board to take over this run in its entirety I will give £100 to the local hospital.

As to the other operator concerned I really love that kind. Before I started the Footscray route he was approached on several occasions to run to Altona but flatly refused because like me, he knew he would be running at a loss. But now that it has been pioneered, like a panther, he is ready to pounce. He would not want this run in its entirety either.

To Seek Flood Relief

Altona council is endeavoring to arrange a deputation to the MM Board of Works (at Board level), to discuss the urgent and vital problem of drainage in the Altona Shire.

Deputation will probably meet the board next week and in the meantime aerial photographs will be taken of the flood areas.

It is understood a private firm is interested in developing the western swamp. Reclamation of the area being undertaken by using filling taken from a large boat anchorage located in the Explosives Reserve.

It is understood this proposal has been placed before the State government but no decision has been announced.

Recent floods have pointed the way for a vigorous approach to the whole subject with adequate drainage in the affected areas.

If the Board of Works cannot assist then the council should seek a deputation to the Premier to obtain funds to undertake drainage that should have been done thirty years ago.

Altona Wins By 14 Goal Margin

Altona inflicted a crushing defeat on Williamstown Rovers last Saturday with a margin of 14 goals.

The game was finished in the first quarter when Altona rattled on 8 goals 4 behinds to Rovers one goal.

Altona's pace and systematic football left the Rovers floundering, and they had no answer to the "A's" forward line, which was functioning like clockwork.

At the change over in the second quarter the Rovers rallied to put on 3 goals 1 behind to Altona's 4.5.

The third quarter saw Altona forge further ahead to score another 4.4, to Rovers' 1.0.

In the final term Rovers again rallied and it was goal for goal with Altona scoring 4.1 to Rovers' 3.1.

Recruits Star

R. Stevenson, J. O'Mara starred in the opening game against the Rovers last Saturday. Both these boys, in the respective back pocket positions, time and again turned away the Rovers' efforts to get the ball to their forward line.

Stevenson was the best man on the ground, each time he got the ball his disposal was something to see, and his marking was superb. O'Mara, while not outstanding, will, after a few more games, be a good asset for Altona.

Your Doctor & You

By R. and W. FRASER

Obviously the very nature of psychosomatic medicine makes the work of the family doctor of tremendous importance.

He it is who is best able to study all the influence likely to be involved in the present condition of a patient because having had opportunity over many years to know him as a person as well as a patient, the family doctor is equipped to see his case against the background of knowledge that is essential to a full and accurate diagnosis.

The new development in this particular branch of medicine is but one of the many great advances in medical science. Suffice it is to say that medical mously in recent times. New kinds of treatment and new drugs are now saving lives which even a few years ago would have been lost.

And of course the doctor is the medium by which whatever is needed from the vast reservoir of accumulated knowledge is channelled to the person who requires it.

The doctor today is possessed of a vast amount of knowledge. He is equipped by training and experience to obtain for his patients tremendous benefits, undreamed of even a generation ago.

However the measure of his ability to help is greatly increased if in addition to his general knowledge and experience the doctor has particular personal knowledge of the individual patient concerned.

The family background, the medical history of any patient, gathered over the years can be of the most vital value to a doctor when he is required to investigate a person's condition and diagnose disease.

It is the height of wisdom for every person to select a family doctor and to give him full opportunity to become conversant with individual characteristics and tendencies. It is extremely foolish to leave a selection of a family doctor until such time as sickness comes.

It has been consistently advocated every person should have a regular medical examination at least once a year. This should be regarded not merely as a "health audit" it should be looked on as an occasion on which the doctor can add to his store of knowledge concerning that particular person. In this way a background of knowledge is assembled and a medical history is compiled.

There is one point concerning this family doctor association which may not be quite clear to many persons.

At some particular time a person feels desirous of having advice from another doctor there is nothing to prevent his obtaining it. In this country anyone is always perfectly free to consult another doctor.

Do not entertain the idea that your own doctor will be offended if you should wish to have further advice. Tell your own doctor frankly that is so; that you have some particular specialist in mind and let your own doctor arrange for you to see him. In that way the specialist will be greatly assisted by the background information which the family doctor will be only too ready to pass on to him.

To some of the older readers probably it may seem rather late in the day to talk of establishing medical histories.

That does not alter the fact that each person should have a doctor who knows him personally. However there is even greater reason for the parents of young children to establish as early as possible a close alliance with a doctor.

There will almost certainly be times when young parents will need urgently a doctor's advice.

If the doctor concerned has prior knowledge of a child's idiosyncracies or weaknesses he is much better able to help.
